

PRESS RELEASE
July 31, 2010

(INDIANAPOLIS, Indiana) - Indianapolis Museum of Art installs 'Free Basket' at 100 Acre Virginia B. Fairbanks Art & Nature Park by artist Los Carpinteros;

Free Basket realizes their vision of a basketball court, turning it into an aesthetically surprising element on 38th Street Loop Car Park in Indianapolis, IN, which also offers a site for the community to engage in recreational play inspired by Flex Court International – an Illinois firm specializing in designing and building multi-game courts and recreational surfaces with operations throughout the world.

Their project seeks to bring together art, culture and sports, providing an interactive platform for the larger community that engages them in art.

The project is 99' x 55' of steel arches fabricated off site and installed on site, concrete poured on site, and court surface installed on site by FLEX COURT®.

Flex Court International operates in 17 countries today such with head quarter in Kewanee, Illinois.
